BANDIT WITH A HEART

Even a burglar has a conscience when it comes to holding up a soldier and taking all his money, jeopardizing his return to camp and subsequent danger of court-martial for non-appearance. This was proven when Harry Estabrook encountered a masked bandit as he stepped from a taxi to board a train at Springfield, Ill., for a return trip to camp. Estabrook, a soldier, explained his predicament to the burglar, who without hesitation, let him go and held up the taxi driver instead.

The above will recall to the minds of a few still living, while not contemporaneous with Robert T. Hare, incidents in the career of this foot-pad who operated in this section of the country nearly one hundred years ago. Hare was a Marylander by birth, and he took to the road early in life. He operated in parts of Maryland and in the vicinity of Alexandria, and the incidents in his life of outlawry are interesting. His life was published in book form, and it formed part of the literary matter in numbers of homes in days of yore. The book was upon the shelves of dealers in Alexandria at the time the war between the states was precipitated. "Old Robber Hare" was the bugaboo of many a nervous child in the dim past.

Boston, Aug. 25.—Says, "I have been in the real estate brokerage business for many years. I have suffered with loss of sleep, indigestion and nervousness, but since taking Argo-Phosphate I sleep better and eat without fear of distress, and can feel a great change in my system."

There is nothing in medical science that equals Argo-Phosphate in the treatment of indigestion, rheumatism, nervousness, kidney and liver ills. Sold by Richard Gibson and The Rexall Store.

Hare made an extended confession before he paid the penalty of his crimes upon the gallows. Among his other instincts was his thoughtfulness when in the act of forcing passengers in stage coaches to deliver up their valuables. He would return watches, rings, etc., when told they were gifts from deceased relatives, and would never open a letter with a black seal when he found such a missive in a mail bag. He always saw that his victims had enough money in their possession to reach their objectives.

the Senate yesterday, when by a vote of 55 to 11 it refused to entertain a motion by Senator Phelan to set aside the restrictions as to wine and beer.

Senator Phelan sought to have the rules of the Senate amended to make his repeal amendment in order as part of the agricultural appropriation bill. Senator Gronna made a motion to lay Senator Phelan's motion on the table and upon this motion the majority of five to one was recorded.

Those who voted with Senator Phelan against tabling the motion were: Senators Calder, Edge, France, Knox, La Follette and Wadsworth, Republicans; and King, Reed, Thomas, and Williams, Democrats.

URNS GUNS ON HOTEL

London, June 19.—An exchange telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen today reported that hostile demonstrations against allied representations occurred in Frankfurt-on-Main Monday night and Tuesday. Shots were fired at the Hotel Carlton, headquarters of the allied mission, the dispatch said. Government troops dispersed the mob with machine gun fire. French army officials threatened to bombard the city if French citizens were molested.
